Children's Column

MAPLE LEAVES

Oh! the maple leaves are budding,
And the leaves will soon be out.
Then it won't be long before the wind
Will blow them about.
In September and October
They'll be yellow, brown, and red.
And when the winter comes along,
They'll be fast asleep.
—FAY MORGAN, Greenwood.

THE MAPLE TREE

Down in a beautiful meadow,
I can see a maple tree.
It is covered with pretty red blossoms,
It is the loveliest I have seen.
I often go to visit this meadow,
For the blossoms are so sweet and so fair.
That I pick the numerous foliage
To make a crown for my hair.
—VALERIE RING, Greenwood.

THE MAPLE TREE

Down in the pasture,
By the stone wall,
A maple tree grows,
Stately and tall.
This is the tallest,
Of all other trees,
It grows in leaps and bounds,
In ones, twos, and threes.
—VILJO W. KYLLONEN, Greenwood.

Pleasant View Farms, East Sumner,

Maine, April 21, 1931. Dear Advertiser:
Editor and Cousin, If I may think of you as cousins:

First, I will describe myself that you may form an idea how I look as I do not know yet whether you, Editor will permit us space for our pictures in this column. I am a little girl, ten years old, weigh seventy pounds. I have blue eyes with long, light, curly hair, and pink cheeks. I am in the fourth grade in my studies. I have a mile walk to school from my home for I live in the country, on a large farm, in the town of Hartford, only 1-3 miles from Labrador Pond in Sumner.

For stock we have seven cows and forty-three sheep and two lambs so far, expecting more right away. A pair of water horses, "Victor and Duke", a pig and a colt. I like out of the door sports best but still I can make cakes, sew, and wash dishes. If I am permitted the space to come again, I will tell you what a fright I got going to school one morning.

I will ring off now, hoping to become a friend to you all, through our column. Fondly, Thelma Edith Andrews.

A BEAR STORY

By Fay Morgan

A long time ago in the woods there was a large dark cave. In it lived four bears. There was a mother bear, a father bear, and two little bears. The two little bears were of the same size and age and called Roly and Poly. Of course no sensible bear would have named two innocent little cubs such names, but their mother and father were not sensible, only fat and good natured. They were too lazy to think of names, so they took the first that entered their heads.

Perhaps you think a bear's life is lonely and desolate, but you surely never saw happier bears than Roly and Poly. They played the whole day long and their father and mother never interfered with anything they did.

Every day these bears went to a brook a short distance away to get some water to drink, by that I don't mean they took a pail and carried some back to their cave. They didn't want to have to carry anything but their own fat selves.

This brook was a very pretty place, its banks were covered with flowers and giant trees, raised their heads above it. Climbing vines grew over the trees and were blossomed all through the summer. One bright October day, the four bears, after waiting as long as they could, decided to go to the brook for their drink.

Mother Bear put on her bonnet, she was a bit behind the times, but did not feel inclined to visit the store for a hat. Father Bear put on his boots, so not to get his feet wet, and Roly and Poly put on a bib so to keep their fur clean.

They started out, Father and Mother Bear dragging behind them Roly and Poly scampering ahead. Roly and Poly reached the place first and with a squeal of delight, laid the last two or three steps. In a few minutes Mother and Father Bear came ambling along.

Mother Bear was feeling rather cross today, which was unusual, for she was usually good natured.

Roly, who was always full of mischief, looked, untied her bonnet strings. With a snarl, she turned on him and brought one of her great paws down on his ear. Roly was so surprised that he could not think of a word to say.

His eyes opened wide, his mouth hung open and altogether was such a funny sight that his mother had to laugh at him.

Poly stroked down the bank, deciding not to wait for his mother to start, and went on to the brook, looking, untied her bonnet strings. With a snarl, she turned on him and brought one of her great paws down on his ear. Roly was so surprised that he could not think of a word to say.

BROWNING CLUB

The last meeting for the season of the Browning Reading Club was held at the home of Mrs. Harriet C. Brown. A covered dish supper was enjoyed. This was in charge of the program committee, Mrs. Elizabeth Bartlett, Miss Helen Swan and Mrs. Harriet Brown. The business meeting followed and officers for the year were elected as follows:

President—Mrs. Edna Leavitt.
Vice Pres.—Mrs. Gertrude Libby.
Sec. and Treas.—Mrs. Gertrude Libby.
Owing to the absence of the newly elected president, the committees for the year were not appointed. Mrs. Alice Danforth acted as toastmaster and responses were made by Mrs. Mabel Leavitt, Mrs. Gertrude Libby, Mrs. Gertrude Hosmer and Miss Helen Swan. The remainder of the evening was passed with a social time and games. Meetings will be resumed in October.

We each have a part in the great play of life. Whether humble or heroic, we are all actors. To read well our lines, whatever they be, is the best we can understand. To wait for our call to respond to our cue, on the great stage, with undimmed heart, that short be our scene, and brief be our stay. We have only to act well our part. When our exit comes, be it early or late, we have finished, and quickly obey. If we come or go, it is all at the will of Him who has written the play. ALMA PRINCE-DETER HAYDEN.

CHILD HEALTH DAY

The observance of May Day as National Child Health Day has been proclaimed by President Hoover and Governor Gardner has issued a message urging the citizens of Maine to join in this observance of Child Health Day on May 1st. Dr. Clarence F. Kendall, State Health Commissioner said the State had made progress in recent years in reducing the infant and maternal death rates, but that these rates still were higher than the average for the nation. During the past five years 6,000 children in Maine died before reaching their first birthday and 556 mothers died in childbirth. Many of these deaths could have been prevented by proper educational work, Dr. Kendall said.

The Spreader

with the Beater on the Axle

THE JOHN DEERE SPREADER is the only one combining these advantages:

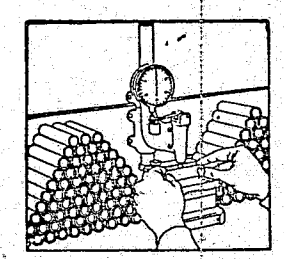

1. High Drive Wheels, combined with a low box—easier on both horses and the man.
2. A Spreader that can be properly loaded—flat on top—either from the sides or from the back.
3. A Beater that is near the ground—winds do not cause drifting of the manure.
4. An Extremely Simple Spreader—no clutches, no chains, only about half the parts required on old style spreaders.
5. The Main Working Parts are mounted on the rear axle where they can't get out of alignment—no countershafts.
6. Costs no more than Inferior Spreaders.

Soundly built to serve you long and well

The piston pin test—showing one of the many marvellous accurate gauges used to maintain Chevrolet quality.

If you could see the new Chevrolet Six being built, you would understand why it performs so well, lasts so long and brings so much satisfaction and pleasure to its owners. The quality of raw materials is held to standards unsurpassed anywhere in the automotive industry. In the manufacture of the engine alone there are hundreds of separate inspections. Pistons are matched in sets to within one-half ounce. Piston pins must be within 1/16 tenths of one one-thousandth of their specified size. Connecting rods are matched to within one-quarter ounce and are individually fitted by hand. The special alloy steel crankshaft is the subject of truly amazing care and precision in manufacture and cannot vary from perfection in balance more than 1/16 inch-ounce! These few examples of Chevrolet standards indicate the care used in the manufacture of every part of the car. Soundly built to serve you long and well! No compromise with quality in manufacture means no compromise with complete satisfaction in ownership.

Chevrolet cars are run millions of miles each year at General Motors' great proving ground.

NOT ENOUGH MONEY

Chairman Albert J. Stearns of the Maine Public Utilities Commission, in an address at Portland this week, explained the reason that the commission, despite its desire to do so, cannot aid the public by investigating by impartial arbitrators, the operations of public utilities. The reason is an extremely vital one—the lack of sufficient appropriation from the state to permit the commission and the operation of trained investigators.

The state legislature made an appropriation for the commission for each of the next two years of $100,000, but there is provision in the appropriation measure that $50,000 must be expended for salaries and clerk hire; $40,000 for hydrographic and geological surveys; $1,500 for aid navigation and $15,000 for grade crossings. The small sum of $7,500 annually is granted for the salary and expenses of a consulting engineer and for fact-finding purposes, which demonstrates the impossibility of any considerable investigation of the physical structures and fairness of rates of public utilities.

Many small groups of citizens, who have undertaken to bring about the correction of an alleged grievance in connection with the operation of public utilities, are encountering the same difficulties encountered by the public utilities commission were afforded the means to enable it to make a fact-finding inquiry in such cases, but did not appear to be the legislative belief.

SUMNER

Mill Crew Arrived—Farrar Caught First Trout—Varney Returned to Martin Place—Reminders.

Horace Crockett, with his pair of horses, scraped the roads through here as far as the Peru line, Wednesday, the 15th, making a great improvement, for during the week previous to that time they were in bad condition.

Well, well, the Tebbets birch mill crew came to town, Thursday, with Harry Norton leading the procession, at ten a. m., in his large car, closely followed by a truck well loaded with birch mill house supplies.

Then came the Big Goss, Silas Keniston, and Clarence Waterhouse (Silas must have been disappointed in the much improved condition of the roads). And at eleven came Mr. and Mrs. Asavall, the boarding house keepers in their nice car, being their second season here as boarding house keepers, and it seems good to see them back, also of course, the whole crew of mill men, as it lives up the community.

Silas sent the truck with Harry Norton as an assistant, back to Locke's for a ton of grain and some lumber. They returned at four p. m., and at four-thirty the two horse team, bringing up the rear.

Miss Evelyn Poland, who conveys the scholars for the Morrill School, made her first trip for the season with her car, Thursday night.

Irvin, Lionel and Jerry Bartlett had Linn Farrar's horses to haul out dressing, Monday of last week; Jerry and Irvin, in exchange, helped Linn Tuesday, and had Linn's horses again Wednesday, to plow with.

Charlie Farrar caught the first trout heard of in this vicinity, Friday of last week, it was a beauty and weighed close to one pound.

Cal Russell lost his horse, recently. Arthur Childs is saving birch on the road for Donald Varney, on the Ida Bonney farm, purchased by Donald this last winter.

Jerry Bartlett carried his mother and sisters, Grace and Gertrude, over to his sister's, Mrs. Charles Russell's, for a while, Sunday.

Linn Farrar sold a bull to Harold Gammon, last week.

Donald Varney, who has been living at Bedding this past winter, returned with his family to the Martin place, so called, Saturday of last week.

The Penley Bros., of West Paris, were up here to the birch mill, Saturday of last week.

Joseph Bosse has about fifty cords of birch that is yarded out to the Green Woods road, that he will soon haul to the Tebbets mill which it is said will total over thousand cords for this last winter's cut, as per Mr. Bosse's contract, to cut and deliver to the mill.

Jerry Bartlett is working at the birch mill, Saturday.

Joseph Bosse and family went to Lewiston in their Essex car, Saturday afternoon.

Reminders: The boys going suckering; school conveyance by motor vehicle; sportsmen going up the brooks; our R. P. D. man getting up our way at around eleven o'clock a. m., when only a few weeks hence it was near six p. m. Now he turns the trick with a high powered car, which must seem to him like getting money from home; the birch mill whistle blowing; birds singing, and the sun going high, and getting warm, all of which reminds us old guys that another winter is past.

Mostly About Florida

By Edgar O. Spaulding, Who Summers at Harrison

Miami Beach is a separate city from Miami and is reached over a long causeway across the bay from Miami. It is a city of millionaires and has many private estates and gardens. It is the only place in Florida that is buying in its own defense before it becomes due. A beautiful beach and well worth a visit. The beaches where the tourists from Miami swim and play are here. The water is nowhere near as good as Daytona, where the water is warm. One day I saw the weather report on the both sides of the water 71, water 71.

Next question in nearly all Florida is a very burning issue. It is whether they were voted when money was given out with very little, if any, of the time when these bonds were to be paid. Now that things have changed and the success and the money have left a man, there are many places are coming the way and are trying to repudiate the bonds. Having received the interest and advantages which the bonds raised to buy. It is possible that a too high price was paid for many of these so called bonds. It is also true that many of the bonds are useless at this time. I cannot see where this has led to about repayment to those who bought these bonds.

Some of the bonds of Florida have been sold at Sanford, West Palm Beach and Hastings that these bonds were sold at a sum large enough to pay the interest and any principal due to the assessed against the tax bonds each and every year.

Remember that the table is a place for good comradeship with one's children, and not for discipline or nagging. Take it for granted that the child will eat happily everything served to him, and be sure that he becomes acquainted with a variety of foods. Prepare and serve everything appetizingly and he is more likely to enjoy his food.

Mrs. Btta Austin and daughter, Mabel, spent Sunday with her sister, Mrs. W. D. McAllister.
